The Will To Win Speech

Motivated Tony Robbins.

Except he wasn't motivated by it. The will to win is within him. He created a goal, then made it crystal clear in his mind. Tony needed his goal to have as much clarity as possible; no second guessing. No way to back out. All he needed to do, was follow the map he created. You are the navigator of your own destiny, the wind in the sails.

I would say that is a win!
P.S. I particularly love how the book ends with a heart-touching anecdote of kindness and positivity, that is one of the chapters I keep going back to. I didn't read "Driven" but I did read "You don't have to be a shark" and the last chapter there ends somewhat similarly as well. You leave the book feeling ...
